BETWEEN THE NUMBERS/ OUR READ ON THE MARKET

Buyer activity picks up as summer activities increase, so by trend we expect to see more activity in the market.

Negative publicity about the financial woes at Hidden Valley Resort has seemed to reduce buying interest. Inventory has only slightly increased from last year at this resort, however, sales have dropped from 54 in 2005 to 27 in 2006 during the same period. With the associations in good status, we consider this community a buyers market and one that shows potential for gain for a buy and hold owner.

Seven Springs is NOT showing an increase in inventory as the Southwind Community continues completion. Sales are showing an increase from 17 in 2005 to 34 in 2006 during the same period. Prices still holding at or above last appraised value with a 10% to 15% per year increase over last sale. Ski in and out properties under $300K go fastest, with higher price points on the market for 180 days or more. Slots seem a certain deal, read our newsletters for more. Not having a big effect on prices so far.
